These cookies enable certain functions on our Website or measure how visitors use our Website.

With this cookie policy (“Cookie Policy”) we wish to inform you, as a visitor to our Website, about the cookies and other tracking methods we use (and the way we do this).

What are cookies?

A cookie is a small text file stored in your computer's browser or on your mobile device by a website's server when you visit the site. It contains a unique code that enables your browser to be recognized either during your current session (a "session cookie") or during subsequent visits (a "persistent cookie"). Cookies may be placed by the website's server or by third-party partners the site works with. The website's server can only read the cookies it has placed and cannot access any other information on your device. These cookies are stored in a designated folder within your browser.

Cookies enhance the user experience by making interactions with the Website smoother and faster, and by simplifying navigation across its sections. Additionally, cookies can tailor the Website's content to better align with the visitor's preferences and needs, ensuring a more personalized experience.

This Website uses different types of cookies and tracking methods

I. Strictly necessary cookies

These cookies are necessary for purely technical reasons for the use of the Website. In view of the technical necessity, there is only an information obligation and they are placed as soon as one enters the Website.

Applicable law – Disputes

This Cookie Policy is governed by and must therefore be interpreted in accordance with Belgian law.

Any disputes arising out of or in connection with this Cookie Policy shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the competent courts of NASCENT’s registered office.

Privacy regarding cookies

NASCENT’s privacy policy also applies to the processing of personal data that may be collected via cookies.

NASCENT’s privacy policy does not apply to the websites of third parties connected to our Website (such as social media). You should consult the cookie policy and/or privacy policy of these partners.

Managing and disabling cookies

Most cookies have an expiration date, which means that they expire automatically after a certain period of time and no longer record visitor data.

You can also manage or refuse the installation of cookies via your browser settings. You can delete cookies already installed on your computer or mobile device at any time. How you can change these settings varies from browser to browser. If necessary, please consult the help function of your browser.

If you block the storage of cookies, you may not be able to enjoy certain services offered by NASCENT on the Website.

Update cookie policy

NASCENT has the right to update this cookie policy by publishing a new version on the Website. You will always find the most recent version on this page, but if the cookie policy changes, you will also be asked to make a new cookie selection.
